Course description

History 101 offers a broad survey of Western (mostly European) history from the Wars of Religion of the seventeenth century to the World Wars of the twentieth. We focus on the social trends, political conflicts and intellectual quarrels across these years, placing special emphasis on the scientific, political and industrial revolutions that helped forge and define our modern world. Lectures and our class textbook will provide the overall storyline and contexts to this journey; the heart of this course lies in our critical engagement with the documentary record left by the historical actors themselves, as they acted and commented upon their times.

Assigned Readings

Edward Berenson, Europe in the Modern World, Since 1500 (Oxford U. Press, 2016)

Course Documentary Reader (available in three pdf files, see Course Documents at Blackboard site, <https://uic.blackboard.com>)

a) A weekly response paper, based on the assigned readings from your Documentary Reader, to be turned in at the beginning of most Friday discussion sessions, as indicated in Course Schedule below. Response papers need not be long. One-and-a-half to two pages, double-spaced with honest margins and fonts should suffice. And they do not require additional research. Your papers should however demonstrate that you have read and thought about the course materials we will be discussing that day. Guidelines for these assignments will be posted every week on Blackboard under Assignments.

b) Classroom participation counts, especially in our weekly discussion sessions. Participation requires attendance, of course, and I expect your presence in every class (attendance will be kept). More than two unexcused absences during the semester could well cut into your grade.

c) Three examinations (including the final exam), consisting of multiple choice, short answer (identifications) and longer essay questions. Exam guidelines will be provided roughly one week before each examination.

Your final grade will be determined on the following basis:

Response papers	20%
Classroom participation	20%
Three exams, at 20% each	60%

Course Policies

- a) No phones out during class (not negotiable). In those cases where students use laptops for purposes unrelated to class, they will be asked (once only) to put these away.
- b) Make-up exams will be allowed only when you can produce a valid (written) excuse.
- c) Incompletes will only be considered in cases where the student has completed all the work up to the final exam, but cannot take the final for a valid reason.
- d) Plagiarism in any form will be dealt with harshly. Recycling papers from the internet or elsewhere, copying other students' work, or cutting-and-pasting from other sources will be punished to the fullest extent of university policy. Count on this.
- e) Classroom citizenship. Classroom behavior is one of many factors determining your final participation grade. Showing up prepared, answering or asking questions, taking notes and paying attention – these will be appreciated and duly noted. On the other side of the ledger: consistently showing up late, talking during class, using laptops for purposes other than note-taking and other disruptive behavior will also be duly noted. A special category in hell is reserved for those students who come to class, sign the attendance sheet, and then walk out. You really don't want to call that kind of attention to yourself.
- f) Religious holidays. In those instances when classroom schedules conflict with religious holidays, students should provide us advance notification of their absence. We will in turn make every reasonable effort to honor these requests and make necessary accommodations.
- g) Disability accommodations. We are committed to working with the Disability Resource Center in ensuring a barrier-free environment to all students at UIC. Please let us know as early as possible in the semester as to anticipated accommodations.
- h) Know your rights. UIC is devoted to the principles of academic freedom, equality of opportunity and human dignity. Freedom from discrimination for both students and employees is central to our academic mission. Students are encouraged to study UIC's policies and procedures pertaining to these issues, accessible at the web pages of the Office of Access and Equity (go to <http://oae.uic.edu/>).
